Club Description: Regis University's Poetry Club, open to poets of all levels of experience (from those who like to hear it, but aren't sure how to write it to those who have been published and been performing for years), in order to promote the preservation of the arts on a sciences-based campus.

Club Goals: To spread awareness of and provide a safe outlet of emotions through the art of poetry.

To encourage the use of art in productive and life-changing ways.

To aid poets of every skill level in refining their own unique style, as well as providing resources to help writers to succeed both personally and professionally.

Meeting Locations: Creative Writing Center (below the Library)

Meeting Time: 3:30-4:30 on Fridays
